INTEREST AT 4 PER CENT

and Banking by Mail

Commencing July 1st the Lamoille County Savings Bank and Trust Co. of Hyde Park, Vt., subject to certain limitations, will pay interest at four per cent. where money remains with the Bank one year or more.

The entire assets of this Bank are kept in Vermont and loaned to Vermonters to foster Vermont enterprises and to develop Vermont industries. This benefits Vermont, and makes for the security of the Bank. It means as near absolute safety of the depositor's money as it is possible to have, a fact fully proven by the other fact that since the organization of the Bank in 1889 it has never lost a dollar by a poor note, nor has it now, so far as known, a single piece of poor or doubtful paper.

The securities of the Bank are at home, where they can be personally examined and passed upon by its officials, having in view not only the material but the moral hazard which is oftentimes the greater hazard surrounding an investment.

Safety of principal rather than high rates of interest has always governed in the investments of this Bank. It is essentially the people's Bank and the people have confidence in its management and its safety. Its assets, together with the liability of the Stockholders, offer a guaranty of more than 20 per cent of the entire deposits that no depositor shall suffer loss.

Banking by mail a specialty with this Bank, is not only safe, but easy. Send your address on a postal to F. M. Culver, Treas., or to C. S. Page, President, and you will receive by the first mail valuable information touching the affairs of this Bank.

FINE SPIDER THREADS.

Cultivated Especially For the Use of Astronomers.

The cultivation of certain species of spiders solely for the fine threads which they weave for scientific uses has an important bearing upon astronomy.

No substitute for the spider's thread has yet been found for bisecting the screw of the micrometer used for determining the positions and motions of the stars. Not only because of the remarkable fineness of the threads are they valuable, but because of their durable qualities.

The threads of certain spiders raised for astronomical purposes withstand changes in temperatures, so that often in measuring sun spots they are uninjured when the heat is so great that the lenses of the micrometer eyepiece are cracked.

These spider lines are only one-fifth to one-seventh of a thousandth of an inch in diameter, compared with which the threads of the silkworm are large and clumsy.

Each line is made up of several thousands of microscopic streams of fluid. Under the most powerful magnifying glass they appear true and round.

The work of placing these lines in the micrometer requires the delicate touch of experts, who operate with the aid of microscopes which magnify the line a thousand times. The lines are placed parallel with each other and two one-thousandths of an inch apart.—Stray Stories.

CABOT

Much is due our town overseer, E. D. Waldo, for the faithful and respectful way in which he provided for the necessary wants and comforts of the late Miss Kate Bingham during her last illness. A trained nurse had been secured and everything done for her comfort.

For fifty years she had made her home at the town farm and had well paid her way by hard labor. She has shown a kind and sympathetic nature by her motherly care of her room-mate, Miss Jane Crass. She knew right from wrong and as long as health permitted was a constant attendant of the M. E. Church of which she was a member, walking a mile and a half.

Although "painless" she was not friendless, her easel being covered with flowers from friends and neighbors. She died July 14th aged 84 years. Owing to the absence of both pastors a prayer service was held at the house on Saturday afternoon. The following Sunday Rev. F. E. Currier preached a funeral sermon. Her remains were buried beside those of her father in the village cemetery. It is hoped that a stone will be placed on the spot where rests one of whom it may well be said, "She hath done what she could."

News was received here recently of the death of Mrs. Lucinda Atkins Cooper of Randolph, after an illness of only nine days of bronchial pneumonia. Mrs. Cooper will be remembered by the elderly people of the town as Lucinda Atkins, daughter of Jeremiah and Sarepta Atkins, May 17th, 1853. She was married to Rev. Alanson Cooper, a young minister then in charge of the M. E. church of this village. For fifty years she was the helpmate and companion in his labors for the saving of souls, a devoted mother, a faithful friend and a sympathetic neighbor. Only a short time before her illness, her eldest daughter, Mrs. Clarence Ward, of Glenwood, Ia., had come to spend a few weeks with her aged father and mother. Another daughter Mrs. Charles Adams of Ishpeming, Mich., was soon summoned but when she arrived her mother had gone to rest, leaving an aged husband and three daughters to feel that their loss was her gain. Funeral services were held from the home Wednesday, the Rev. X. M. Fowler officiated assisted by the Rev. George O. Howe of Randolph and Rev. W. N. Roberts of Montpelier. Several other clergymen were present and their tributes of respect. Her remains were taken to Springfield and laid to rest beside her daughter who died 25 years ago. Floral tributes testified to the respect and sympathy of neighbors and friends.

Mrs. S. J. Wiswell, spent a few days in Montpelier visiting Mr. Colton.

Miss Esther Wells of Swanton is camping with her aunt Mrs. Carl Fletcher.

Mrs. Pliny Smith has gone to New Brunswick to spend a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gambin.

Mr. Frasier of Danville has opened a store in the Farrington Block and will be pleased to see customers. A millinery department will be kept in connection.

The "Strawberry social" held Wednesday evening was largely attended, over ninety being present. Cake, strawberries and watermelon were served. A literary program which consisted of songs, essays and speaking, which were finely rendered.

THE NEW ERA IN KOREA

Belief That the Emperor Will Abdicate

STEP WILL BE FOLLOWED

By a Convention National Existence to Be Kept Intact. All the Korean Cabinet Ministers to Retire.

Tokio, July 19.—As a result of urgent representation by the ministers, it is very probable that the emperor of Korea will abdicate in favor of the crown prince, as the first step towards reform in Korea. This will most likely be followed by the calling of a new convention which while keeping Korea's national existence intact, will limit the sovereign power in some form whereby the ruler can exercise his powers only with the consent and approval of the Japanese resident general. The present ministers in Seoul are actuated by true patriotism, and are determined to place the Korean government upon a firm basis, and free from court intrigues and selfish plots.

Korean Cabinet Resigns.
The cabinet ministers, including the newly appointed household minister, have resigned. It is reported that the emperor was very angry at his ministers on account of their having advised him to abdicate. He said to them that he occupied the throne by right inherited from his ancestors and that his subjects had no authority to advise his dethronement, much less to do so with the support of foreigners. Marquis Ito, in compliance with the emperor's urgent desire to see him, even for a short time, proceeded to the palace this afternoon.

A CULTURED BASS.

Higher Education Was the Ruin of This Intelligent Fish.

"Bass are intelligent little beasts. That is the reason they travel in schools," remarked Walter Dunnington, an authority on fishing and a candidate for the nature fakir class.

"I have frequently observed them studying," he continued, "whether it was better taste to swallow a minnow whole or on the installment plan. I have seen them seek knowledge concerning rubber frogs and, having made up their minds that it was a false friend, go off and warn their comrades."

"I have seen them studying weather conditions, coming to the surface, gazing intently at the sky, finding the direction of the wind and satisfying themselves whether tomorrow would be clear or rainy."

"All real fishermen can vouch for the statement that bass are fond of children. I have seen them eat up the little ones."

"Bass are natural defenders of the home life, and when a carp or catfish comes browsing around to devour the eggs the female will defend the male with the ferocity of a lioness."

"I once knew a bass so intelligent that it refused to bite on the ordinary bait and was only caught after a page from an encyclopedia had been tied to the hook. Higher education was his downfall."—Philadelphia North American.

IN THE SAME BOAT.

A Story of Samuel Warren and Matthew Davenport Hill.

Sam Warren, the author of "Ten Thousand a Year," has been the subject of many anecdotes, one of them better than one which I first heard related about him by his friend, Matthew Davenport Hill.

Looking in one day at Warren's chambers, Hill noticed that he seemed a little troubled. "It is," said the lawyer-novelist, "most unfortunate. I ought to have dined tonight with the lord chancellor, but Mrs. Warren is about to present me with another olive branch. How can I leave her? I hope his lordship won't be annoyed at my putting him off." "Oh," returned Hill, "don't make yourself uneasy. I am one of the guests. I know him so well I can put it all right for you." With these words the visitor prepared to leave the room.

At first profusely grateful, Warren presently seemed a little perplexed and said: "By the bye, after all, I won't trouble you to say anything about me to the chancellor. Between ourselves, I have not been invited."

"Well," rejoined Hill, "make yourself comfortable on that point. For that matter, neither have I."—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Transformed Pythagorean.
Some undergraduates once wished to play a practical joke upon a man who was a disciple of Pythagoras, so one day when he was a little sleepy by reason of the amount of brandy and soda that he had imbibed his friends smeared him with honey and rolled him in the inside of a feather bed. When the disciple of Pythagoras got up in the morning he looked in the looking glass at himself and said slowly, with a whistle, "Bird, by Jove!"—London Telegraph.
